A GIFT FROM THE STARS.
By ERROLD DRAKE.

A LONG time ago, when the starts ruled on high,
A great many wonders were seen in the sky.
There were tables of blue, there were couches of gold,
And shelves of deep crimson, and colours untold;
There were floors black and shining, and walls white as snow,
And many more things that I really don't know.
Now said Venus to Saturn, said Saturn to Mars,
"I really do thinks we are greedy old stars;
For we have a secret that no one does know:
Let us share with the mortals who live down below!"
So ther took the great secuet, tacked it on to a spear,
Tied up in a thing that we call an "idea;"
Then dropped it right down on the top of a man,
Who, desparing, was printing a hot-water can.
The spear it struck home, the idea was unfurled;
And now the great wondes is known to the world:
Is carried by train, is carried by boat;
Is known to all people, on land or afloat;
In carried by horse, is carried by camel;
And this is its name—"ASPINALL'S ENAMEL!"

TELEGRAMS

(via Galveston.)

New York 17th—It is announced from Rome that Baron Fava, Italian Minister in the United States, who left the Legation in consequence of the Lynching question in New Orleans, has been ordered to return to his post at Washington.

Vienna 17th.—From sixty to seventy thousand American citizens have announced their intention of visiting Vienna during the great Musical and Dramatic Exhibition to be held here.

Belfast 17th.—The exports from this city last year to the United States reached £440,000 stg.

Rome 17th.—The financial condition of the country is very serious. Many Princely families are ruined. The value of real estate is declining day by day, and the emigration of the peasantry, principally to the Argentine Republic, is steadily increasing.

Madrid 17th.—Telegrams from New York say that the wedding of the Spanish Marquis de Roda to the widow of the late President Barrios of Venezuela will take place there on Wednesday next. The Pope sent his Apostolic benediction yesterday to the happy couple by telegraph.

London 17th.—The effects of the strike of the Durham colliers are becoming more apparent day by day. The stocks of coal for fuel are becoming exhausted. Never before in the history of the industry and traffic of the North of England has there been such a serious crisis as the present one. It is impossible to calculate the number of people deprived of work by the strike.

Paris, 18th—There will be no Socialist manifestation in the streets here on May 1st. Here, as in Madrid, it has been decided that the Social festivities shall take place in the saloons of the respective Socities, thus avoiding further alarm to the population. The jurors named to try the case of Ravachol, the Anarchist, are trying to shirk the duty, fearing what might happen to them afterwards. A bomb with eighty dynamite cartridges was found this morning in the goods sheds of the Northern Railway company at Lille.

London, 18th.—Henri de Kock, son of the late Paul de Kock, has just died here, aged 71.

Tangiers, 18th.—Advices from London state that England has proposed to France energetic joint action to prevent the sale of arms and ammunition to the King of Dahomey or the Sheik of Samoary, on the Upper Niger.

Dublin, 18th – The MacCarthyites have split up into four sections. Tim Healy leads the first; John Dillon the second; William O'Brien the third or neutral party, and MacCarthy and his son the fourth.

Barcelona, 18th. — A petard with lighted fuse was found in the principal church to-day. Another exploded yesterday in Calle Pamplona near a religious procession.

Berlin, 18th.—The Bill to reduce Military service to two years is meeting with great opposition. The Emperor, Count Schlieffen, Count Waldersee, and General Verdier oppose, whilst General Caprivi supports the Bill.

Rome, 18th—There is great anxiety all over Italy owing to the threat of the Socialists that they will display all their forces on the 1st of May. It is feared that the Government will be unable to maintain order.

The Cabinet crisis continues.

St. Petersburg, 18th.—The Ministers of War and of the Interior refuse to repeal the decree prohibiting the exportation of grain. It is feared on this account that many failures will ensue.

London, 18th—Under pressure of the mining proprietors, 10,000 Durham miners have returned to work.

THE EQUATER MAILS.

(From our Paris Correspondent.)

March 19.

The nitro-glycerine, rather than dynamite scare, still continues. The excitement has not yet reached a panic stage, but a few more explosions will soon make foreigners take to the wing. The chemists do not exactly know of what the villainous explosion consists, and the wicked have so many destructive mixtures to select from, and no insurmountable difficulty in preparing them, great caution only is to be observed. Nor has any conclusive or appeasing arrest been made. The anarchists are suspected naturally, and a scape goat is ever a consolation. But the police have examined and arrested all individuals suspected to be anarchists, on two different occasions, but without result.

The infernal machine plot is not wide spread; were it so, the police would ere this have effected captures. The striking of terror among the inhabitants, and the utter disregard for human life, clearly indicate that desperadoes are few they are maniacs with a method. Therein resides their power and the secret of their impunity. As the Code contains no primitive article dealing with this "fin de siecle" form of crime, the Government has introduced a short bill, making the crime on the attempt to commit it, of an outrage by explosives, akin to murder and so punishable by death. The French now can understand what such attempts imply; hitherto they only witnessed them in other countries, and judged them philosophic calm.

The commercial nailing against the effects of the new tariff have commenced. A delegation of French merchants engaged in the Spanish trade has been received by the Foreign Minister; they declared their transactions with the Peninsula have completely ceased, and their place is being rapidly occupied by the English and Germans. The Minister could promise no relief. Spain says to France:—"Accept my minimum, and I will accept yours."

"Declined with thanks," replies Monsieur. The manufacturing industries killed by the tariff are also swelling the ranks of the discontented. And as for the consumers, they are breathing forth threatenings and slaughters at being victimized by enhanced prices. But the best revelator of the commercial situation are the revenue returns; already, for the month of February alone, the exports have diminished by nearly 19 per cent. This means that French manufactures are in less demand, that old purchasers are declining, or that the competition in the markets of the world is too severe for France. Yet the latter must find outlets for her surplus products if home labor is to be kept going and the people fed.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

London, March 19th.

A man called Deeming, but also having more than one alias, had been arrested at Sydney for a series of murders in Australia, 9 in number, including his wife and children.

Schneider, who murdered 8 servant girls at Vienna was executed on the 16th. inst. The sentence on his wife was commuted to penal servitude.

It is rumored that Mr. George Earle Welby is named Chargé d'Affaires to the Argentine Republic. He served there formerly as Secretary under Hon. Sackville West.

AWFUL CRIMES AT MENDOZA.

We regret to announce two murderous outrages at Mendoza, the victims being in both cases Englishmen. The first is the assassination of Mr. Hiron, a gentleman well known in that city, who had a contract for supplying firewood to the Great Western Railway Co. He was invited by a friend, who had two servants with him, to go for a ride, and before they had gone far the friend said to one of his servants "Have a shot at the Englishman," whereupon the servant shot him through the head, causing him to fall from his horse. One of the party then alighted and cut Mr. Hiron's throat. The corpse lay for some time on the ground, as unheeded by the authorities as if it were that of a beast.

The other crime occurred at Rio Blanco on the Transandine Railway. An English watchmaker named Maybury arrived there from Chile, and having to wait till next day for a train to Mendoza went to a hotel to secure a night's lodging, but finding the place full was compelled to put up at a "pulperia." Some men in the evening prevailed on him to drink some brandy which was drugged, whereupon they cut his throat from ear to ear and took his money, amounting to £18 in gold and some paper-money. The unfortunate man was conveyed to hospital at Mendoza, and by last account he was still alive. The owner of the "pulperia" gave out the story that he was an eccentric Englishman who had lost his money and attempted to commit suicide. The doctors, however, at Mendoza said it was impossible for the man to have cut his throat in the manner shewn by the wounds, and that it was clearly a case of attempted murder.

Such terrible crimes would in any other part of the world arouse the indignation of the public, but in Mendoza, as in Rosario and in Corrientes, they are looked on with complete indifference. There is no use in our calling on the Federal Courts to adopt measures for the protection of life and property. The murder of Mrs Burton and the recent wholesale assassinations at Ramallo shew that the authorities are too much occupied with other matters to think of punishing assassins.

We can only repeat our solemn protest against the laxity of Governors, Ministers, Judges &c., and advise our countrymen to be constantly on their guard. Perhaps when the new President comes into office he may see his way, as President Sarmiento did in the case of the murders at Frayle Muerto in 1868, to bring assassins to justice and have them shot

JEWISH COLONIZATION ASSOCIATION.

HEAD-QUARTERS.

General Orders.

Office in B. Ayres, Calle Cuyo 452.
April 14th 1892.

1.—Lt. Colonel Albert Edward Williamson Goldsmid having arrived in the Argentina assumes the duties of Representative of the Jewish Colonization Association.

The representative having been charged with the direction, the organisation and the general administration of the affairs of the association in the Argentine Republic, all orders will in future be issued by him or under his authority, and all reports will be addressed to him.

2.—The orders issued by the representative will be of two kinds.

(a) General orders—relating to matters affecting the association generally.

(b) Office orders — affecting the management of the head-quarters office in B. Ayres.

3.—In assuming the direction of the affairs of the association, Lt. Colonel Goldsmid looks to the officials, employees and colonists of the association to render him loyal support in the arduous task he has undertaken.

Any breach of trust, dishonesty, intriguing or falsehood on the part of an employe will be severely dealt with.

4.—Colonel Goldsmid intends to inspect the various colonies in turn as soon as the reorganisation of the head-quarters office has sufficiently far progressed to enable him to do so.

In the meantime managers of colonies will, with the least possible delay, send him in personally a short confidential report shewing:

(a) The existing state of affairs in the colonies under their respective commands.

(b) The measures they consider of urgent importance, bearing in mind when expenditure is concerned, efficiency and economy should go hand in hand.

5.—Managers of Colonies will be held responsible for the Colonies under their respective commands; successful administration can only be assured by judicious blending of firmness and kindness.

If the confidence of those committed to their charge can only be gained, the task of the managers will be comparatively easy.

The religious obligations of the employees and colonists should be respected; only extreme emergency can justify any infringement of this rule, which applies equally to Jews and Christians. On the other hand religion must not be allowed to be used as a pretence for idleness and neglect of duty.

The colonists should be taught to look to the manager as their father, to whom they should turn in their difficulties for advice. The manager should utilise the services of the best of the colonists to assist him in preserving discipline.

It should be the aim of the administration of each colony to convert the colonists into good and faithful citizens of the Argentine Republic.

6.—The general order does not alter the position of Dr. Adolf Roth as financial manager of the Jewish Colonization Association in the Argentina.

The financial manager is specially charged, after coming to an agreement with the representative, in all that concerns the financial and other operations of a similar nature, as detailed in the provisional regulations laid down by the Central Administration in Paris.

7.—By decree of March 1, 1892, Mr. B. Borgen was named assistant-representative. During the absence of the representative, Mr. Borgen is officially authorized to give and sign orders "per order," and these orders must be considered as given by the representative himself.

8.—By decree of March 1º, 1892, Mr. Morris Epstein was appointed as interpreter and must lend his services until further notice in the headquarters in B. Ayres.

LOCAL SKETCHES.

Mr. Emile Daireaux, the well-known writer, is at present writing a series of essays of physological phenomena in the Plate. His latest is the "Deudor" or Debtor, an amusing sketch, which we translate as follows:—

The Debtor,

This is the great conqueror of this glorious epoch. In valor, he surpasses the heroes of the Independence. The Bible tells us that Saul killed 1000 and David 10,000 men. The Debtor is the Modern David, the pigmy that kills off the Goliaths. At one blow he killed the Barings, the Murrietas and many others; a little more, and he would have done for the Bank of England and the Rotschild tribe. The Debtor's occupation is to owe. He owes everyone. His sympathetic face and the obscure services he has done the State have caused the official banks to give him credit, and with the money given him by these banks he has built a palace and bought lands; palace and lands he has mortgaged for ten times their value. He has sold the cedulas and purchased carriages and Russian horses, furniture, shares and shares, and with these shares he has humbugged the Jews and issuing banks, as Dr. Lucio Lopez calls those banks which refused to advance the Government money. In all these operations the Debtor has not lost a dollar. He began without capital, made a pile, and the pile has vanished in smoke.

The Debtor is a victim of the fall of stocks, but he is a gay victim. Hear him: "No one owes me a cent. I can live in peace." And so he does.

Those who are his creditors sing a different tune. They think of the carriages and horses and furniture they sold him. They lose of course; but then who does not lose in these times? When the Government cannot pay it's a duty of patriotism not to pay. The party in power he does not sympathise with But then above all things he is a patriot and he proclaims it in a loud voice and he does not wish to pay up, because he does not wish to play the part of an adversary to Government.

The army of debtors is an imposing one. It has its generals and every rank down to the private. They have all fought the English, but not all have received equal shares of the spoil.

Many are tired of the luxury in which they live and which—they pluckily confess—costs so much to keep up in these times when cash down is the word. The victory has been only too complete. Even credit has succumbed.

The Debtor, having no other course open to him, is beginning to sell his costly furniture and knicknacks, which are handed over to the tender mercies of the auctioneer. Sell off everything, my friend Life is life, with or without luxury. I remember my father lived in a house that was by no means a fine one. We ate good "puchero" and we drank pure water. We must return to that. We lived very happily. Why should I keep all these statues which no one understands? Look here. The other day my cousin came to see me, and she caught sight of a statue of Venus by Milo, a great artist of tremendous physical strength; he was called Milo of Crotona. Now that I remember it, I have not paid Manigot for that statue yet. Well, my cousin looks at the statue and asks me why I keep a statue without arms! Don't you think I am right in selling off everything after that? I liked novelties once. I only like money now. Sell my palace and my furniture and my statues and let me have my money that I may live peacefully.

THE CREDITOR

In a distant quarter in the south of the town, steeped in retirement, lives the Creditor. His poverty excites commiseration. At one time he possessed a fortune built up after years of work. He came to these shores about half a century ago and set to work. He had a trade. He was intelligent. He was good-looking. He married a native girl of good family, and many children blessed their union. He worked all his life; he put some money by, opened a factory and employed 70 men. "I," he says, give work to 70 men who represent 70 families. I buy and sell for hundreds of thousand of dollars. My industry leaves a margin for other manufacturers, brokers, bankers, etc., to make money. Why the stamps alone I use represent more than my capital when I started. I hardly knew how to write then."

The man was full of honest pride, and who in his place would have felt otherwise. His savings became the base of a fortune. He sold his factory to a Joint Stock Company who paid him in shares. The remainder of his fortune he placed in Cedulas.

The shares, the company, the Cedulas, the rents, are no more. But this is not all. The unfortunate man, whose opinion was of some weight, advised his friends and relatives at home to have faith in the country and to buy stocks and Cedulas.

He is a creditor. He owes no one a cent, and yet the mail brings him letters in which he is treated as a rascal for having advised people to buy cedulas.

Sometimes the creditor comes into town. He meets Grajera, the dog-man, and looks at him sorrowfully. "Some day," he says, "I may be like him."

The Creditor owns a large fortune but he has not a dollar. He did not speculate, he did not buy lands, nor stocks. He only bought houses and cedulas. His tenants won't pay him, and the Jueces de Paz won't assist him. In regard to the coupons he must go "a otra parte con la musica." Yesterday the Minister of Justice informed him that owing to the state of siege he must not present any applications to the magistrates, that the circumstance of demanding embargoes might trouble the country and expose him to expropriation, and that imprisonment for debt might be advantageously revived and turned on obnoxious creditors who want people to pay up at a moment when paying-up is downright treason. Only a conspirator could think of paying his debts.

The Creditor wanders about the streets, examining the drains. He is on the look out for some friendly water-pipe, where he and his family may pass the night.

PROVINCIAL NEWS.

They had a very quiet week in the provinces during the "Semana Santa." The only discordant note comes from Santiago del Estero, where a young lieutenant made things lively with a deadly weapon for an honorable pater and his son who refused to allow the young officer to visit them. This stern refusal did not bring on any sharp exchange of words, but the lieutenant silently drew his sword and simply prodded the father and son, who are both in a rather dangerous condition at this moment. As for the lieutenant, he is visiting elsewhere. The police have not paid him a visit, from which people may infer that he acted in accordance with some peculiar Santiagueño custom, and that this apparently barbarous outrage is strictly in accordance with the prescriptions of provincial etiquette. Else how explain this impunity?

The golden and once paper-moneyed youth of Cordoba are at present going in hard for fencing and pistol-practice, two peaceful amusements very much in vogue even outside Cordoba. They have a club ad-hoc and ad "hack" in the doctoral city, once famous for its learned youth and to-day smashed up by a too liberal use of paper-money. In the meantime the local Government is trying to revive the famous provincial bank, from the ruins of which there still exhales the perfume of faded clandestine issues.

Advices from the Brighton of the Plate, otherwise and more vulgarly known as Mar del Plata, state that some enterprising gentleman has started an oyster-bed down there, so that we may soon expect to have the delicious bivalve for breakfast. The Rio oysters, which used to be so largely consumed here, have lost their reputation and disappeared from the market altogether, a very good thing—we mean the disappearance—for it is pretty well acknowledged that these Rio oysters are yellow fever microbes in disguise. Oysters are plentiful on the south coast. There are small ones and large ones, as large even as the Ostend oysters. The settlers along the south coast are quite accustomed to eating oysters. There is no lack of the bivalve, but the difficulty is to bring it up to Buenos Ayres. Mar del Plata is destined to come to the front. It sends us shrimps, prawns and a variety of sea-fish, and now it is preparing to send us oysters.

Telegrams from Catamarca report that Judge Carraciolo has been returned as Senator for that province to the National Congress. The Judge, however, with a foresight which only his long experience of politics can explain, refuses to resign his post on the Bench until his honorable colleagues in the National Senate have accepted his credentials.

WANDERINGS IN THE URUGUAY.

THE ESTATE OF WILLIAM WILSON ESQ.

Few more charming spots can be picked out on the banks of the Uruguay than the estancia 'Las Delicias'. The property consists of over 15,000 acres of pasture land, the surface of which varies widely, at times flat, then gently undulating, and some parts may be considered high lands. The coasts are lightly timbered with well spreading trees, principally Quebracho, Nandubay, Amarillo, Laurel and other indigenous woods, which give the locality an attractive and parklike appearance. The home stead nestles amids Eucalypti, Casuarinas, Paraisos, some fine specimens of the Gravillea Robusta, and other exotic trees. The view from this point is picturesque, as it overlooks a broad expanse of the Uruguay. The soil is of a sandy nature, abundantly supplied with lime and well fitted to produce cereals, vines, olives and many legumenous plants. But little or no attention has yet been paid to the development of agriculture; but enough may be seen in the garden to determine the great wealth in store, when agriculture is seriously taken in hand.

Great care has been given to the grading up of the cattle on this estate, and many valuable sires have been imported from time to time from some of the most celebrated shorthorn herds of England, including the Oxford tribe from the Duke of Devonshire, Marquis Gwynne, Guy Faulkes, Claudius and other well-known sires. Probably one of the best shorthorn sires that ever came to the Plate found a home in "Las Delecias". He was bred by Mr Thompson of Penrith. His sire was Beau Benedict out of Molly Mellicant, a tribe of shorthorns well known during the last few years in English show-yards. This Sunshine was a grandly shaped bull, with a proud carriage, as if conscious of his own good qualities. He was one of the few bulls one meets with that will bear the closest examination when not got up for show, and would have ranked as a high-class shed bull in any part of the world. He was not large, but remarkably growthy, magnificent loins and quarters and well-spread ribs. His colour here would not be considered fashionable, being a roan with a good deal of white; but colour such as his will never be regarded as objectionable by those who regard useful qualities rather than fancy showpoints. This bull unfortunately died, but has left some young stock of great value, who inherit many of the fine qualities of the sire, and it is to be hoped that they will be mated to sires of the same type as Sunshine.

Unfortunately a craze has set in among shorthorn breeders to breed for color. Red has become fashionable, and through the yielding to this craze many high class sires have been sacrificed and the true mysteries of breeding, summed up as William Houseman puts it, forgotten, "to be able to understand the fitness of similarities and the unfitness of dissimilarities and persistently breed to the best."

A few years ago, Mr. Wilson sent out from England some Hereford bulls to grade up a herd on a Shorthorn foundation. These sires it is believed were selected by Mr. Duckham, which is a warranty for their high breeding and individual merit. This season the manager has put graded Hereford sires on graded Shorthorn cows. The object aimed at is to produce heavier animals for the saladero by the union of these crosses. Would not a strong out cross from new shorthorn tribes produce better effects? However the experiment is interesting and will be carefully watched.

All the herds on the Estancia are in good condition and the paddocks well grassed, so that no material losses may be looked for during the incoming winter.

Besides the Shorthorn and Hereford cattle, large flocks of sheep are bred on "Las Delicias" camp, chiefly Rambouillet sires have been used, bred in the Cabañas of the Negrette and Espartillar in the Argentine Republic. The aim here is to cover the sheep with dense wool of robust quality and at the same time to get a large-bodied animal. By careful grading and selection this has been done to a great extent. The wool grown is much sought after by buyers for the excellence of its quality. Samples are kept of every year's shearing, so that the improvements in the clip are practically demonstrated.

There is now a state of uncertainty among the Estancieros as to what class of sheep will be the most profitable in the future. There is a feeling that the camps of the Uruguay will soon grow mutton to supply the great European demand for congealed meat. In that case a modification in our breeding may take place and our fine-wooled merinos will likely be crossed with the coarse long-wooled breeds of England. A small flock is being graded up in 'Las Delicias' by the introduction of Alymer's long wooled sheep. These sires have recently been introduced into the department; they are eminently butcher's beasts, the breed having been made by the co-mingling of the blood of Leicester, Lincoln and Cotswold. These sheep have been carefully interbred by the Almyer family for upwards of 80 years, and now a distinct breed is formed of great prepotency. The type closely resembles the Cotswold. It would be premature to speak of the cross breds, as a sheep adapted to our pasturage, but when pure sires are used the cross bred appear most excellent sheep, both for mutton and wool.

A most pleasant and instructive day can be passed on going through the well kept, fenced paddocks of Mr. Wilson's estate. The cattle are carefully classified and the result of the different crosses can be seen together. Many lessons of a practical character can be learned, and it is a matter of great regret that while America is supplying England with cheap meat, and Australian and New Zealand mutton is everywhere becoming popular, the Banda Oriental, with her unrivalled grazing grounds and advantages of near markets is destined to dry her beef and reduce her flocks for want of capital to develope those industries that have produced grand results both to the capitalist and the producer.

Agricola.

THE PROPOSED REORGANISATION OF THE ENGLISH BANK.

The English Bank of the River Plate was formed and registered in London and the large majority of its shareholders are domiciled in England, but it has only an office there, whilst all its real banking business has been done in the River Plate, and it is in the River Plate that its assets and the greater part of its creditors are to be found. Yet both the liquidation and the scheme for reconstruction are being carried on in London with the least possible reference to the countries where the Bank's business lies, and in an evident but quite mistaken persuasion that the dispositions of the English law and the jurisdiction of the English courts hold good in all parts of the world. Uruguayan and Argentine law have been calmly ignored in the matter. There is much in this proceeding which, apart from its want of common sense and business knowledge, is likely to raise unnecessary difficulties in the way of restarting the Bank.

One special example of this is the unlimited liability which it is being attempted to impose on the shareholders on account of the note issue in Montevideo. The official Receiver or Liquidator took the opinion of a counsel in England, without reference to the law of the land where the notes were issued, and although some other equally eminent and learned counsel might have given a diametrically opposite opinion, he considers is sufficient authority to issue a call and to claim unlimited liability. Finding this proceeding likely to be disputed, in the reconstruction scheme an attempt is made to shuffle out of the difficulty by making the call appear optional, though the point is by no means so clearly stated as it should be. In fact the whole scheme is by no means intelligible, and requires interpretation into plain English.

Another instance may be quoted in the notice recently published with the object of giving creditors here an opportunity of being present or represented at the discussion of the reconstruction scheme in London on April 10. Creditors here have nothing whatever to do with the proceedings in London, nor are they affected by them except indirectly. They have only to do with the local branch which is being liquidated under local general and special law, and which is, for them, practically an independent concern. Neither the Courts nor the people in London can interfere with the liquidation or the creditors here in any way, except by providing money to hasten the liquidation, which, it is to be presumed, will be done in the general interests of the Bank. One would think that it would have been the first duty of the official liquidator to have informed himself of this, and thus save the issuing of futile notices.

We may add that, although there are some large shareholders here, not one of them has yet received the least official intimation of what steps are being taken in London, not even so much as a copy of the circular setting forth the proposed scheme of reorganisation. Perhaps we have no right to say so, but we have reason to believe that even the officials of the local branch have been equally ignored. This does not seem a very business-like way of doing things.—Montevideo Times.

PALERMO RACES.

Although the card was not a promising one, the attendance on Sunday was quite up to the average. Fields were small except in one or two events and outsiders landed the odds in five out of the seven, which put backers rather out of spirit. The very poor show of Tala in the Premio Vulcano and the ridiculously easy wins of Barata and India Muerta should open the stewards' eyes to the very pronounced in-and-out running of several horses. An inquiry such as is always instituted in England on the slightest suspicion would be decidedly beneficial to the turf and a guarantee to the public.

RAILWAY ITEMS.

Mr. Sampite, representative of the contractors of the San Cristobal-Tucuman Railway, has laid before Government the plan for the connection of two tanks at Fortin Tostado station. Talking of tanks, Messrs. Lucas Gonzalez and Co. have applied to Government for leave to erect another tank at Mocoloro station.

Telegrams received from Salta yesterday state that the road-bed of the railway from San Guemes has been damaged by the recent rains.

Mr. Chevallier-Boutell has just returned from Parana where he installed Mr. Jason Rigby, M.A., C.E., in his place as Manager of the Entre Rios Railway Company. Mr. Rigby is an Irishman and graduated at Trinity College, Dublin, and is well-known in Brazilian railway circles. He has constructed a number of railways there and manged several others. Mr. Rigby was entertained by Mr. Chevallier Boutell at a breakfast at George Mercer's before he left, where he met all the railway managers invited to meet him.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

All, or nearly all, the holiday-makers turned up smiling in their usual business haunts yesterday. Most of them looked thoroughly done up, and as if they had not slept for a month. They brought back lots of game to their friends.

Sir Vincent Barrington returned from his trip to Mendoza on Sunday. He went, he saw and he conquered the Governor and his Minister of Government, who have undertaken to allow certificated pupils of the Red Cross Association to render immediate assistance to the wounded, just as the Chief of Police here, Dr. Donovan, has done also. Sir Vincent, who will leave for England to-morrow, delivers an address on First Aid to the Wounded this evening in the Operai Hall at 8.15. Admission is free. All are invited, but especially ladies; without their aid nothing can be thoroughly done. The Committee comprises Mr. Arthur Herbert. H. M. Chargé d'Affaires, Mr. Consul Bridgett, Mr. Laines, editor of Diario, Mr. Fennessey, Manager of the London and River Plate Bank, all the railway managers, and many other leading residents. Sir Vincent's address will be followed by practical demonstration of how to render first aid in cases of fracture, bleeding etc. etc.

We learn on good authority that Mr. Fennessey has tendered his resignation as Manager of the London and River Plate Bank in this city and will leave immediately for Europe. He will, we understand, be succeeded by Mr. R. A. Thurburn, the present Manager of the Montevideo branch.

The Zarzuela company at the Politeama wound up its "temporada" on Sunday night with an excellent performance of the popular pieces, "Marina" and "Cadiz," both of which were most enthusiastically received, as they fully deserved to be. The stirring patriotic scenes in Cadiz during the invasion of the Peninsula by Napoleon were spendidly put on the stage, the entry of the troops, in which a military band and three fine horses took part, evoking tremendous enthusiasm and vociferous encores.

Talking of Consuls and bank and railway managers, we note that our terms-cash friend Mr. John Brown has kindly taken them under his sartorial wing for the coming winter. He might have included editors; but no matter; there are lots of other tailors in town. Ingratitude, thy name is Brown.

We consoled ourself yesterday for the sartorial "cut" by lunching on the latest delicious thing in pies; veal and ham, real Melton Mowbray, to be had at Wilson's Family Grocery Store in Calle Piedad.

Our heart is sore. All the editors in Rio have been arrested. In South America innocent editors are always the first victims of political unpleasantness. It's too bad.

We have received a letter calling the Post Master General's attention to some defects in the P. O. arrangements. Our correspondent says:—"Yesterday I received a letter from England, stamped in the usual way. I was, however, obliged to pay a surcharge of 36 cents for insufficient postage; out of curiosity I went to the trouble of having the weight accurately tested on a chemist's scale, with the result that the letter weighed 15 grs. and 20 centgrs. At the "Oficina de Carga" in the General Post Office, I was informed that the letter was overweight and insufficiently stamped; they, however, failed to prove it by any of the letter weights in their office, and referred me to a postal tariff on the wall, in which it appeared that the postage from England was still assessed at 4d. The employé, however, informed me that he was perfectly aware that the postage from England had been reduced, but that he had not received any official intimation of the fact, and on enquiring the reason he did not surcharge all letters arriving to-day that had not the 4d. postage, he told me that if such was the case, it must have been an oversight of the Department. How is it that the P. M. G. has not been advised of the reduction of postage from England, as both countries form part of the International Postal Union?"

Italy seems to be paying quite too dearly for her whistle in the Triple Alliance concert; and money matters in that sunny clime seem to be hastening fast to a general break-down. If this come, king Humbert will have hard work to keep his crown on his head. So much for big fleets and armies without being able to pay for them.

The Argentine exiles in Montevideo have again changed their minds and are shedding ink in the newspapers there about Argentine politics in general and the alleged conspiracy in particular. Drs. Saldias, Leguizamon, and Castellanos have opened the ball in the Razon and Siglo.

The provincial elections in Santa Fé on Easter Sunday were of the now fashionable "canonical" type: and un accompanied by broken heads. We're delighted to hear the latter part of the news.

The Volunteers marched to Plaza Victoria on Sunday morning, rested a while, and marched back again to Palermo. On passing Plaza San Martin Colonel Roque Saenz Peña's horse fell but, we are glad to say, the gallant rider was not much hurt.

The Socialist working men here intend to celebrate May Day in a more peaceful and sensible way than their fellows in Europe. They will treat themselves to a jolly good dinner. Bravo!

The Illustrated London News says that "the Rev. Mr. Spurgeon had to face during his last year the possibility of a very serious split in his congregation. In dismissing the assistant minister and bringing an American clergyman to fill his pulpit during his absence, Mr. Spurgeon did not consult his people. This, indeed, was not his custom. He would not allow them to hold a church meeting during his absence. But he found that a section among them strongly resented this action, and, had it not been for the magnanimity with which the assistant minister acted, a disruption was inevitable."

President Pellegrini returned to town on Sunday evening from Salto, where he passed his Holy Week vacation.

The series of Galvani concerts began last night in the Politeama. Our musical reporter in chief was there, and will tell about it in our next issue.

We note in one of the English papers to hand an incipient movement to induce young Englishmen of good family, with small capital at command, to emigrate to the Plate and make fortunes in farming. We hope this is not the beginning of another Henley Colony business. Our mellowed experience of young Englishmen of good family and small capital is that they invariably set to work vigorously to make the said capital smaller and smaller, till it eventually disappears, and they with it.

Dr. Leslie E. Keeley, of bi-chloride of gold fame, is quoted as declaring that ass

Messrs. Moore & Tudor, Maipu 163, B. Aires.

Dear Sirs—
"I have tried HAYWARD'S "PASTE" DIP on my Sheep, and have pleasure in bearing testimony to ITS EFFICACY AS A DIP. I need have no hesitation in recommending it generally as a Cure for Scab, without discolouring or damaging the Wool.
The "PASTE" is in my opinion preferable to the Powder, and will probably have a larger sale than the latter."
Yours very truly
(Signed)
JOHN KELLIE.

It has been proved by many important Estancieros that HAYWARD'S PASTE is more convenient to use than any other Dip, being already mixed and dissolving in any kind of water. It makes a smooth soapy bath which adheres well to the Fleece and leaves the wool clean and soft.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL.

The Bolsa being closed, we give our readers the following cuttings from London papers received yesterday:—
London, March 19th.
The week, though a very quiet one on the Stock Markets, has not been uneventful. We have had the coal strike, the end of the Murrieta deadlock, the latest news of the Baring liquidation, the failure of the Gunzburg banking house, and the declaration of the long expected North British dividend.
At last we seem to have a fair prospect of relief from the incubus of the Murrieta difficulties. The Barings were got out of the way in a workmanlike manner. But the various groups who undertook to pilot the Murrietas have been playing a childish game of hide-and-seek, if, indeed, it were not a case of the pea and the three thimbles. It was impossible for outsiders to say with any certainty where the firm's assets were at any given moment. The latest juggle was too much for some who had become involved in the business, and the upshot is the appointment of receivers for C. de Murrieta and Company, Limited, to the great relief of the market and the benefit of South American securities in general. Another point which has helped to bring this about is the reiteration of Mr. Lidderdale's opinion that the Baring guarantors will suffer no loss. As he put it to the meeting, "You must decide for yourselves what weight should be attached to my opinion."
The improved political outlook in Argentina, together with the facts referred to above, and the good dividend announcements of the Buenos Ayres Great Southern and Central Uruguay Railways, have been the cause of general improvement, which would have undoubtedly attained a much larger extent if the Buenos Ayres gold premium had gone down. It hangs fire somehow and this keeps back all currency obligations in the Republic, as well as retarding the advance of those payable in sterling, and the commercial understandings which have to turn their currency earnings into sterling money before paying dividends. Uruguayan stocks have been in particular demand, on the belief which appears to have some foundation, that a strong syndicate is in negotiation to relieve the Bank of England and the Baring guarantors of Messrs. Baring's holding of Uruguayan securities.
While there can be no doubt whatever that the restoration of a sound currency is the fundamental requisite of the Argentine Republic, the task itself is much less simple than it looks. All things considered, it is satisfactory that the decline in the premium should make even slow progress.
Still more satisfactory is the improvement which has taken place in the political prospects of Argentina. That the contending factions should have succeeded in keeping violent hands off each other is in itself matter for congratulation. A few months ago it would have been thought almost too much to expect. That they should have virtually agreed on a good candidate for the Presidency, who will be acceptable to Europe as well as to the Argentines themselves, is another unexpected gain. It is now hardly conceivable that anything should happen to prevent a peaceful solution of the Presidential difficulty. This will be the beginning of a new era for the Republic. The trials through which it has passed have shown it the folly of its mushroon prosperity. When the new President takes office there is reason to hope that he will bring to bear on the financial crisis a vigorous mind free from illusions and able to look at both sides of the case that of Argentine creditors as well as of Argentine citizens. Material sacrifices may have to be made on both sides, but if they be wisely arranged general benefit will result from them. It will pay the bondholders in the end to be considerate and forbearing, and it will pay the Argentine Treasury to strain every effort to meet its obligations as far as lies within its power. A general scaling down of interest is, of course, inevitable. How much may be necessary depends to a large extent on the gold premium, and that, again, is a reason why there should be no hurry.
As yet Argentine regeneration is a prospect rather than a reality, but after the despondency of the past two years it is something to be able to assure ourselves that the turn of the tide has come at last. Very naturally, the present revival has lined most effects of the securities which are least under the influence of Argentine politics. While Government bonds have improved only moderately, railway securities have come again into very decided favour. The mere reduction of the gold premium is an important benefit to that class of securities. It adds so much to their revenue without any increase of expenditure, and it otherwise relieves the financial strain which hitherto has been so hard on them.

The first ordinary general meeting of the Entre Rios Railways Company, Limited, was held yesterday at Cannon street Hotel, under the presidency of Mr. Reginald J. Neild.

The River Plate Trust, Loan and Agency Company has not escaped the effect of the depression during 1891, and the dividends now recommend for that year compare badly with those for the three preceding ones. The "A" shares get eleven pei cent. for the year, against eighteen and half for 1888, 1889 and 1890, and the "B" shares two per cent., against five for these years. But when it is considered that in recommending these dividends the Directors treat as profit only the interest which has actually been collected, that a large amount of new capital ranks for the first time for dividend, and that £15,000 is to be carried to reserve, the results do not appear so unsatisfactory under the circumstance.

The particulars as to the suspension of the house of Gunzburg in St. Petersburg shows that the Parisian Bank associated with Baron Gunzburg appears to be less involved than was at first believed, and it was rather lucky for the Banque Russe et Française, regarding which so many unpleasant rumours had been afloat, that its general meeting took place, and thus afforded the administration a speedy opportunity of explaining the position. The Directors of the Banque Russe expect little or no loss on their engagements with Baron Gunzburg, and it appears that the St. Petersburg house has not suffered much from its Argentine engagements. The firm, which at no distant date commanded resources amounting to at least forty million francs, has come to grief partly through ruinous grain speculations and partly through locking-up money in industrial enterprises. The Paris house had taken a large share in the advances made to the Credit Foncier of Santa Fé by the Banque Russe et Française but all the instalments had been paid in cash long ago, and must have to a certain extent been written off. The house held a good many Banque Russe shares, but only 2,400 of such shares were deposited in its name for the general meeting held yesterday and part of these belonged to clients of the house.

In the "Daily Post" of September 2 appears a leading article—evidently from an analytical expert—showing that after 15 minutes "draw," Indian Tea yields 17-73 of tannin, while from China comes only 7-93. What this means few know, but those troubled with indigestion may realise in part by use of True China Tea for one week.
